

1. What was / has been your occupation before entering politics?

Communications consultant and policy researcher.

2. Do you live in the riding and, if so, how long has it been your home?

Yes, I live in the village of Greely with my wife Anaida and our daughter Valentina. I moved to Greely four years ago from Barrhaven.

2. What has been your main involvement with your community outside of work (volunteer activities, etc.)?

I volunteer at hundreds of community events per year in our community – from serving at local church suppers to attending fundraisers for cancer awareness.

3. In your life what event, or book, or speech, or song or even TV show has made the biggest impression on you and your political thinking? Why?

The book “Capitalism and Freedom” by legendary economist Milton Friedman. This is a transformative resource on the power of the free market and free enterprise in our society.

4. What previous politician, (alive or dead, but not currently in parliament) is a role model for you?

Winston Churchill. He was a brilliant student of history, one of the best orators the world has ever seen, and he inspired a nation to fight against evil and save the free world.

5. What policy in your party’s platform do you think matters most to the people in your riding?

The Universal Tax Cut. It’s an income tax cut for everyone that will save the average household $850. My constituents have told me that life is getting too costly. Prices are rising faster than paycheques and pensions, and taxes are making it worse. This tax cut will put more money back in your pocket, so you can get ahead.

7. Recent polls suggest many Canadians are disillusioned with politics. If elected, what would you do to address those concerns?

I think many Canadians are disillusioned with a government that has broken so many of its phoney promises made to voters in the last election. That’s why I will keep fighting to hold this government accountable. I strongly believe in the notion that government is the servant, not the master. We do not show up at work in Parliament to kneel down and praise the executive branch. I believe that government should live within its means, leave more money in your pocket, and let you get ahead.
